On the afternoon of June 25th, 2009, Michael Jackson died (①) a *heart attack in a hospital in Los Angeles. The news was on websites ②() () the world. He was the biggest pop star in the world. He sold more records and won more *awards ③than () () singer. But he was famous (④) other reasons, too. How did Michael Jackson go from a child singer to the King of Pop? This is his story.

Michael Jackson was born in 1958. He was the seventh of nine children. When he was a child, he loved his mother, Katherine very much. He thought that his beautiful singing voice came from her. At the age of four, Michael started singing with his brothers. Their singing group was called 'The Jackson 5'. They *recorded their first two singles in 1968 and soon The Jackson 5 ⑤became () and () famous. Their early albums were a great success.

In 1972, The Jackson 5 continued to make albums. In the same year, Michael recorded his first solo album. But ⑥not only The Jackson 5's new albums but also Michael's solo album didn't sell well at that time. Michael wanted to write his own music. But ⑦the producer didn't say yes.

In the summer of 1977, a music producer of The Wizard of Oz, Quincy Jones asked Michael to play the part of the *Scarecrow. But this was not such a success. Fans didn't like it, and ⑧it made very little money. After that, Quincy asked Michael to record songs about his feelings. The album 'Off The Wall' was fresh and new, and it was a big hit. Michael Jackson became a star again.

In 1981, the album 'Thriller' came out. Michael believed that it would succeed. He was right. It stayed on the top of the *hit chart in America for over two years and became the biggest-selling album ever. So, he became a superstar. But he had many troubles, and he disappeared from the stage for many years.

In 2009, he was going to *perform again ⑨for the first time in twelve years. The tour title was 'This is it'. (⑩) first, he was going to do ten concerts. Finally he was going to give fifty concerts in London from July 2009 to March 2010. All of the tickets were 【 A 】 in just a few hours.

In the months before his death, he was very busy. Dancers were chosen for the concerts and he was 【 B 】 hard with them. He was 50 years old. ⑪He was too old to sing and dance for two hours night after night.

His doctors said that he was healthy, but to the outside world, he often seemed too thin and weak. (⑫) fact, he had ⑬a terrible problem. He couldn't sleep and couldn't live without a mix of strong *painkillers. On the last day of his life, he was at his house in Los Angeles. He couldn't sleep well, and he asked his private doctor to give him a very strong painkiller. ⑭His doctor agreed.

At around noon, he fell to the floor. Was it a heart attack? His doctor tried to 【 C 】 him while a *guard called *911 for help. He was 【 D 】 to a hospital but doctors there couldn't save him. He died.

After his death, his music was everywhere again. The Thriller album and albums by The Jackson 5 were back in the top ten in England. Many people will remember him for his music and amazing dance moves. The King of Pop may be dead but his music will never 【 E 】 .

Part 1. How the Bear Lost His Tail

Long ago, the bear had a long beautiful tail. In Japanese, you say 'shippo' for tail. The bear's tail looked like the fox's tail, but it was longer and more beautiful. So the fox was angry. One day, the fox decided to play a trick on the bear. The fox went to the river, put his tail in the water and waited for the bear. When the bear came, it said to the fox, "what are you doing?" "I am fishing," said the fox. "I can catch many fish this way." "I think I will try, too," said the bear, and he put his tail into the water. "That's good. Don't move. Just wait," said the fox. The bear was sure he could catch a fish, so he waited and waited. Soon winter came, and the water in the river turned into ice. The bear's tail was caught in the ice. He was so angry. He pulled and pulled on his tail, and 'SNAP!' It broke off. So now, all bears have short tails, and they really don't like foxes.

I heard this story for the first time when I was in elementary school. It's an old story told by Native Americans. Native American's stories have many animals in them that can talk. We can learn many interesting things from such stories. For example, 'how the bear lost his tail.'

Part 2. The Lost Dog ...

Last week, my friend, Akira lost his dog. He decided to make some posters and put them up around his town. I met him there, and we had this conversation.

Rob: Hi Aki, what are you doing?

Akira: Oh, hi Rob. I'm looking for my dog.

Rob: Sachi?

Akira: Yeah, my dog, Sachi is missing.

Rob: Oh, I'm sorry to hear that. Did she run away or did someone take her?

Akira: I don't think anyone took her. Yesterday, when I went to work, I forgot to lock the front gate. I think she opened the gate and ran away.

Rob: Can your dog open the gate?

Akira: Maybe she can. She is a very clever dog.

Rob: So, what are you going to do?

Akira: Last night, I made some posters, and I am going to put them up around town.

Rob: What did you write on the posters?

Akira: I wrote, "I am looking for my dog, Sachi. She is a small Akita-ken. She is white but she has one black ear. She is very friendly. If you find her, please call 073-985-1466."

Rob: Is that your home telephone number?

Akira: No, that's my office number.

Rob: Oh, hey, which one of Sachi's ears is black?

Akira: Her left ear is black. Why?

Rob: Because she's sitting right behind you.

Sachi: Woof, woof!

Akira: Sachi! ...
