

[1] 次の英文を読んで、設問に答えなさい。(43 点)

Have you ever been to Hawaii? It is the newest of the 50 states of the United States. Barack Obama, the 44th President of the United States, is from Hawaii. It is located in the middle of the Pacific Ocean to the southeast of (A) and northeast of (B). It is made up of over 100 islands. There are eight main islands ①(ア who イ which ウ whose エ whom) make up *the Hawaiian Islands: Hawaii, Maui, Oahu, Lanai, Molokai, Kauai, Niihau, and Kahoolawe. No one lives on Kahoolawe. The largest island is the island of Hawaii, known as the Big Island. Oahu has the most people.

The climate of Hawaii is mild. There are only two seasons in Hawaii: summer, from (②) to October, and winter, from (③) to April. The average summer temperature is 29.4°C, and the average winter temperature is 25.6 °C.

English and Hawaiian are the official languages of Hawaii. English is the main language spoken on the islands. Most people ④(live) in Hawaii speak English. It is used by the state, business, and schools, but in Hawaii you can also see and ⑤(hear) the words Aloha and Mahalo everywhere. In the Hawaiian language, Aloha means “Hello” or “Goodbye”, and Mahalo means “Thank you.” ⑥They are useful for both local people and visitors.

Have you ever seen the Hawaiian State flag? Its design is interesting. Hawaii was once an *independent kingdom. *King Kamehameha I ⑦(build) the Kingdom of Hawaii in 1810. He told an officer of *the Royal Navy to design the flag. It has eight lines of white, red, and blue for the eight main islands. The flag of Great Britain is in the top left corner. It shows Hawaii’s friendship between them.

Hawaii is also famous for volcanoes. The island of Hawaii has five volcanoes, and three of them are active. ⑧*Kilauea (most / volcanoes / world / one / active / is / in / the / the / of). (a)It is located on the southern part of the island of Hawaii. (b)It started *erupting in 1983 and (c)it is now the longest eruption on earth. Every year some visitors at Kilauea are injured or even die at the active *lava flow. (d)It is a very dangerous place and ⑨it is (to / to / for / watching / know / important / visitors / how / enjoy) the lava flow safely.

Kilauea has a large central *crater called Halemaumau. *According to old Hawaiian stories, it is the home of *the Goddess Pele. She is the goddess of fire, wind, and volcanoes. Hawaiians respect Pele. When an eruption happens, the local people think it is Pele’s gift.

The lava from the volcano makes new land, about 40 *acres every year. So, the island is still ⑩(grow) because the lava continues to flow. People leave fruit, flowers, and fish to thank Pele for her gift.

There is an interesting story about Pele. Some people believe that when you visit Hawaii, it is bad luck to take a lava rock home. ⑪This will make Pele angry and she will give you bad luck. So, lava rocks are sent back to the volcano park office by tourists who had bad luck after ⑫(take) them home.

So, when you want a *souvenir from Hawaii, (⑬).

[2] 次の英文を読んで、設問に答えなさい。(33点)

When Rick Hoyt was born, his *umbilical cord was around his neck and he couldn't breathe. His brain was damaged, and so he could not control his arms or legs. He couldn't even talk. Then, 43 years later, ①he saved his father.

When Rick was born, the doctors told his mother, Judy, and his father, Dick, that he would never be able to communicate. They said they should leave the baby in the hospital. However, Dick looked (②) his son's eyes and saw ③life. They decided to go home together.

When Rick was 11 years old, he was sent to Tufts University. There, a computer was put on his head which helped him write messages on a screen. Finally, he could communicate (④) his family.

In high school, Rick's classmate had an accident and was *paralyzed. The students at the school planned a charity run, and Rick told his father that he wanted to join. Dick was not a good runner, but he wanted his son to experience everything in life. So, he practiced, and (⑤) the day of the race he pushed Rick's wheelchair the eight kilometers. When they finished, Rick said to his father, "⑥I felt like I wasn't disabled anymore!"

From that day forward, Dick went running with Rick every chance he ⑦could. They began running marathons. They entered the Boston marathon, the most famous marathon in the world. Then someone suggested that they try ⑧a triathlon, which is swimming, running, and cycling. (⑨) the swim, Dick would pull a small boat with Rick inside. On the bicycle, Rick sat on a special seat on the front. Together they finished a triathlon. And ⑩another. And another.

Today "Team Hoyt" has *completed more than ⑪1,000 races. They have also gone skiing, climbed mountains, and ridden across America (⑫) bicycle. So how did Rick save his father? One day Dick felt sick and went to the hospital. The doctors found a problem with his heart, but because of all his exercise, he is still alive. So in a way, Rick's love of races helped his father stay healthy. Now they can continue to run together.

PART 1

Script

Hello everyone, welcome to class. My name is Mr. Sasaki, and I will be your homeroom teacher this year. Today we will talk about your class schedule.

There are seven classes on Monday and Thursday, six classes on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday, and four classes on Saturday.

Everyday you will study math with me, and English with Ms. Yoshida. Japanese class is four times a week. PE and science are held three times a week. Music and art are both held once a week, on Saturdays.

If you are in a sports club, there is practice each weekday after school. You will have games on Sunday. Culture clubs, such as drama, English conversation, and history, will meet on Wednesdays and Fridays.

If you need help with your homework, please go to the teachers room after school. If you are feeling sick, please talk to the school nurse in the health room. It is across from the teachers room.

Do you have any questions?

OK, your first class today is science. The science room is on the fifth floor. Do you understand?

PART 2

Script

A: Hi Maki! Long time no see! How have you been?

B: Hi Gordon, I've been well. Nice to see you again.

A: What a beautiful day it is today! I am so happy that summer is over. I like fall the best.

B: Really? I'm going to miss summer. I had fun with my friends. We went to the beach almost every day.

A: I can see that, your skin is so dark. That is too hot for me. I like hiking in the fall. The mountains are beautiful and cool, and all the trees become red and yellow. Did you BBQ at the beach?

B: We wanted to, but I didn't have a BBQ set. We broke a watermelon though. I love eating cold watermelon in summer the best.

A: Did you do anything else?

B: My family went back to my grandparents house for Obon. We go every year to see my grandmother and grandfather. I could also play with my cousins. How about you? What will you do this fall?

A: Next week I will go to the river to fish. The week after I will go hiking in Kyoto. I want to see the trees around Arashiyama.

B: Have fun.

A: Thanks, see you later!
